Tournament History

Originally known as the East/West Rio Verde Invitational, the 2011 edition of the Rio Verde Invitational is in its ninth year. Western Michigan won the inaugural invitational in the spring of 2003 with a score of 614. The event moved from a 36-hole to a 54-hole format in 2005. In 2010, Michigan became the first team ever to win this event twice. The Wolverines shot a three-day total score of 881 (291-287-303). In the process, Michigan set a new single round record with a 287 in the second. Michigan's Ashley Bauer shattered the individual record for margin of victory, besting Eastern Michigan's Robyn Scott by nine strokes to take the tournament with a 4-under par score of 209, also a tournament record for strokes.

Special Relationships

The residents of Rio Verde C.C. have graciously opened their homes to house the over 125 golfers, coaches and team staff who are making the trip for this year's event.

RIO VERDE COUNTRY CLUB

www.rioverdecc.com

Arizona's Valley of the Sun is known as a golf mecca, but Rio Verde stands out among other courses in the area. Its exceptional parkland-style courses are fast becoming known as the "Best Traditional Golf" in the Valley.

The Quail Run and White Wing courses, newly redesigned by Tom Lehman Design Group, are defined by rolling fairways, greens loaded with personality, and interesting visual experiences punctuated by 'right there' mountain views of Four Peaks and the Tonto National Forest.

These two courses have been the home of the Rio Verde Invitational since its inception in 2003. The Tournament returns to the White Wing course for the first time since 2006.
